Loewen Window Center of Annapolis Opens its Doors

Showcasing luxury windows and doors with an environmentally sensible appeal

ANNAPOLIS, MD, October 25, 2010 – Loewen, the world’s leading supplier of luxury windows and doors, has expanded its retail presence in Maryland to now include a showroom in Annapolis’ prestigious Design District. This new showroom features high-end luxury wood windows and doors for new construction or replacement applications.

“With Annapolis’ flourishing community, we are thrilled to have the opportunity to expand our retail business to this growing area,” says Scott Ricker, vice president of sales and marketing. “Coupled with our three additional tri-state showrooms, including a thriving presence in Bethesda, we continue to address the growing demand of high-end, environmentally sensible windows.”

With design leadership, custom capability, and architectural specialization on the forefront of every project, Loewen’s windows and doors are designed to survive searing heat, arctic blasts and something even less forgiving - the fickle winds of fashion.

Loewen windows and doors offer one of the most robust profiles available today. Strong, resilient Douglas Fir, thicker glass, laminated sash construction and extruded aluminum metal clad combine to form a window that can stand up to the toughest elements — and everyday use. Additionally, Loewen’s commitment to environmental sustainability is reflected in both their manufacturing processes and product offering.

“Not only are we committed to alleviating our environmental footprint, but we offer Energy Star performance as well,” continued Ricker. “While we actively seek to reduce-reuse-recycle, we understand the real world dynamics of downcycling and therefore aggressively design systems that are optimally efficient in consumption and strive to produce windows of the highest quality so as to assure long product life.”

For luxury homeowners—and the architects, designers and custom builders who create their dreams—Loewen is the brand that delivers an unrivalled combination of artisanship, experience and environmental sensibility in an extensive line of Douglas Fir, FSC Douglas Fir and Mahogany windows and doors.
